Dear Kirk,

There are certain times when a night out at the Symphony becomes extra special, thanks to enthusiastic patrons like you. One of these in particular was the "Bond, James Bond" concert. From all accounts, the audience had a wonderful experience, from the luxurious Aston Martins at the entrance, to the vintage movie posters and classic memorabilia in the lobby, to the thrilling and romantic sounds of the great James Bond theme music, performed live by the Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra.

We would like to express thanks for your support and effort in making this event so memorable by providing transport for the Aston Martin display model. As we celebrate the Jacksonville Symphony's 60th anniversary, we look forward to seeing you at an upcoming concert next season.

Wishing you a peaceful summer.

Sincerely,

Paul Witkowski
